Such programmes are organised throughout a year and include courses of the Russian language and culture of various duration with the content tailored to the needs of a particular student, or a group of students.

The programme is tailored to individual requirements of our students and to their level (from A1 to C1). Students can request a special emphasis on a particular language skill or area of expertise. Course duration may vary from one month to a full academic year depending on the needs of students.

Our normal group size is 1:1. If you can come with one or two friends or colleagues, we can offer you a special small group (to 5 students).

We offer flexible hours but usually our courses consist of 10, 20 or 30 hours per week. There are no limits to the maximum number of hours per week, however, our minimal requirement is 10 hours per week.

Russian language classes for advanced-level students may be supplemented by lecture courses in Russian Literature, History, Folklore taught in Russian etc.
