The event has been held for 6 years annually, raising the interest in the sphere of legal communication among foreign and Russian students successfully. The Summer School on German law is planned to be held simultaneously with the Summer School on Russian law for students from Germany, whose participation is supported by DAAD program (German Academic Exchange Service). The participants will have an opportunity to meet the members of the Krasnoyarsk regional Legislative Assembly (the regional Parliament) and officers of enforcement agencies. This form of the event provides complete exposure in foreign language learning, legal communication development as well as overcoming of traditional stereotypes and awaking the students' interest in international law.

The aim is to raise the interest in Russian law with German students as well as to develop Russian students' communication skills.

The objective is to refine Russian and German students' communicative skills. German and Russian are study languages.
