

History and Archaeology

Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University

Language of study: Russian

Mode of study: full-time, extramural

Duration: 4 years

Availability of free education: yes

Price: 148 800 RUB per year

Programme curator: Rauf Sabirov

Tel.: +78432337027

E-mail: admission@kpfu.ru

Specializations within this programme

Russian History

The profile content of "Russian history" is the study of the past of the state and the peoples of Russia. The object of the Russian history study is the activities of the state and society, the peoples of the country in all spheres of life at various stages of historical development. The task of the Russian history is searching and evaluation of the historical sources, study and analysis of the whole set of facts and phenomena of social and everyday life.

Program Benefits

- Preparation of researchers and teacher-researchers according to postgraduate course profile in the specialization "Russian history" is carried out with the use of modern educational technologies aimed at the organization of independent research and postgraduate student teaching activities. At the same time, the main point is the research activities of the graduate student, who is provided with methodological assistance from senior colleagues;
- Research of postgraduate students according to specialization "Russian history" is focused on the interdisciplinary character: on the base of broad archive materials of the Republic of Tatarstan future scientists are proposed to study ethno-political and socio-cultural issues in the Russian history;
- training and mentoring of postgraduate students of the "Russian history" profile is carried out by highly qualified scientific and pedagogical workers who have publications in Scopus and Web of Science.

Career opportunities

- The area of professional activity of graduates who have mastered the program of postgraduate study includes: □ solving professional problems in the institutions of higher education, specialized academic institutions and other research institutes;
- archives, museums;
- other cultural organizations and institutions;
- in expert-analytical centers, public and state organizations of information and analytical profile.

General History

Graduates of the program master the general culture of thinking, ability to intellectual, cultural, moral and professional self-development and self-improvement. The most important task is to prepare graduates for scientific research in the field of general history of the corresponding period (the Ancient World, the Middle Ages, the New and Modern Times), who possess the skills of applying modern methods in studying societies and civilizations of the past, and scientific analysis of complex historical phenomena and processes. The postgraduate study program is also aimed at ensuring active research activities of postgraduate students in the course of training based on the application of modern methodologies and interdisciplinary approaches, theories and new information technologies and on the preparation of graduates for teaching in higher education.

While studying internship work for graduate students is possible in Russian and foreign universities - partners of the Institute of International Relations, History and Oriental Studies of KFU.

Program benefits

- classes are conducted, the academic advising of graduate students is carried out by highly qualified teachers who are specialists with all-Russian fame on the program's subject matter;
- the content of the program on the specialty "General History" reflects the current level of scientific understanding of world history, which enables the graduate to become a highly qualified specialist, teacher and researcher in the field of problems of general history;
- graduate of the program in the specialty "General History" acquires a wide range of professional competencies and high qualification, including the ability to formulate and solve scientifically significant research problems, to teach in high school.

Job prospects

The field of professional activity of graduates who have mastered the post-graduate program includes:

- research activities in the field of studying the general history of different periods and special historical disciplines in educational institutions of higher education, specialized academic institutions and other research institutions;
- scientific and pedagogical activity in the field of teaching the general history of different periods and special historical disciplines in educational organizations of higher education;
- work in archives, museums, other organizations and cultural institutions;
- work in expert-analytical centers, public and state organizations of information and analysis, in the media.

Historiography, source study and methods of historical research

The content of the program "Historiography, source study and methods of historical research" is the study of the problems of formation, development and modern state of historical science in theoretical, source-study, historiographic and methodological dimensions. Studies should be conducted on the basis of modern achievements of the world and domestic historical science both in approaches, methods, and in the technical design of the results of scientific developments. The main objects of study are the content, genesis and main trends in the evolution of historical knowledge and historical science in historiographic, source-study, methodological and theoretical aspects.

Program benefits

- the preparation of researchers and research teaching fellows in postgraduate studies in the educational program specialization of "Historiography, source study and methods of historical research" is carried out using modern educational technologies aimed at organizing the independent scientific and pedagogical activities of the graduate student. At the same time, the emphasis is on the research activity of the graduate student, who receives methodological assistance from senior colleagues;
- scientific research of graduate students of the educational program specialization "Historiography, source study and methods of historical research", focused on interdisciplinary nature: basing on archival material of the Republic of Tatarstan, the future scientists are invited to study the ethnopolitical and socio-cultural problems of national history;
- training and mentoring of graduate students of the educational program specialization "Historiography, source study and methods of historical research" is carried out by highly qualified scientific and pedagogical workers who have publications in Scopus and the Web of Science.

Job prospects

- The field of professional activity of graduates who have mastered the post-graduate program includes:

- the solution of professional tasks in educational organizations of higher education, specialized academic institutes and other research institutes;
- archives, museums;
- other organizations and cultural institutions;
- in expert-analytical centers, public and state organizations of information-analytical profile.