The program is training professionals in the field of oral and written sci-tech translation. Education content is built in accord with the modern labor market demands. During their studying students acquire memorizing, concentration and stress-resistance techniques. Graduates of the program are well-informed of the structure of translation and interpretation companies, able to carry out translation, interpretation, proof-reading and editing duties, perform consecutive interpretation and sight translation.

From the second year of studies students choose their individual educational paths which allows them to form their personal professional development track.
