The aim of the program is the formation and subsequent improvement of the competencies as the ability to carry out business communication in oral and written forms in the state language of the Russian Federation and foreign (English) language as well.

The program is implemented at the Department of Tatar Studies and Cultural Studies of the Institute of Philology and Intercultural Communication of KFU. Singh B., PhD, professor, director of the Partap College of Education, Ludhiana, India, was directly involved in its development.

Along with traditional forms such as lectures and practical seminars, online learning is used. It is carried out with the help of "Academic Communication" online educational course developed in the MOODLE system. Interactive techniques and technologies are widely used in the learning process: group discussions, brainstorming, debates, and mind map techniques.

A high scientific and theoretical level of program implementation is ensured by final certification in the form of a scientific report.

Teaching is conducted in Russian and English by PhDs, doctors and other highly qualified teachers of Kazan Federal University and foreign teachers as well.
