

Economics

South Ural State University

Degree or qualification is awarded: Postgraduate studies

Language of study: Russian

Mode of study: full-time

Duration: 3 years

Availability of free education: no

Price: 161 800 rubles

Programme webpage at the university website:

<https://www.susu.ru/en/education/phd-degree-programs/380601-economics-economics-and-national-economy-management>

Programme curator: Iulia Kuzmenko

Tel.: +7(351)267-98-76

E-mail: hsem@susu.ru

The field of professional training of the graduates of postgraduate studies is the methodology of accounting, auditing, analysis, internal control of enterprises and organisations. One of the main research fields is the accounting reform in Russia and its harmonization with international accounting and financial reporting standards. The distinctive feature of the graduates of the programme is that they are in command of the accounting and analytical tools at a highly professional level.

The programme is aimed at training highly qualified academic and teaching staff. The graduates have the level of qualification necessary for working in the field of marketing, and are ready to solve the conceptual (fundamental) problems of economic science, as well as the applied problems of functioning of various economic agents, markets and systems.

The graduates are in command of the culture of marketing research; obtain the skills to ensure stable functioning and development of an organisation in a competitive environment based on the coordination of the interests of consumers and the organisation; can analyze, coordinate and regulate the activities of all enterprise structures; can study market conditions, needs and demand, their dynamics and, in accordance with this, determine the enterprise strategy in a competitive environment; can form communication policy, participate in the development of strategic and operational planning programs; determine the effectiveness of marketing activities.

Specializations within this programme

Economics (Accounting, Statistics)

The field of professional training of the graduates of postgraduate studies is the methodology of accounting, auditing, analysis, internal control of enterprises and organisations. One of the main research fields is the accounting reform in Russia and its harmonization with international accounting and financial reporting standards. The distinctive feature of the graduates of the programme is that they are in command of the accounting and analytical tools at a highly professional level.

Economics (Finance, Money Circulation and Credit)

The graduates of this programme are a top-level specialists, conducting scientific research in the field of finance, including the levels of macro-finance, regions and enterprises. The research is based on the ability to manage high finances on investment and raising sources of financing, development strategies for the subjects of financial relations.

The graduates of this programme are in command of competencies in assessing the effectiveness of financial projects₁ the competitiveness of applied financial technologies, and the condition of the financial market.

Economics (Economics and Management of National Economy)

The programme is focused on providing the necessary level of knowledge, skills, experience and preparation for the defence of graduate qualification work (dissertation) for the degree of a candidate of sciences in accordance with the formula of a scientific speciality in terms of implementation of professional activities in the field of economics and national economy management. The graduates obtain the following core professional competencies:

- knowledge of the economic processes of the formation and organization of the effective functioning of the economy of the national economy; mechanisms of its economic, investment, informational and organizational support; methods and tools for justification of directions and assessing the effectiveness of the development of economic systems;
- ability to critically analyze and evaluate modern scientific achievements, generate new ideas in solving research and practical problems, including those in cross-disciplinary fields;
- knowledge of theoretical and methodological principles, methods and means of managing economic systems, institutional and infrastructural aspects of the development of economic systems;
- ability to identify, analyze and solve the problems of innovative development of the national economy, to manage the main parameters of innovative processes in the modern economy, including the methods and tools for assessing the results of innovative activities.

Economics (Economics and Management of National Economy (Logistics))

This postgraduate programme is aimed at studying the modern logistics paradigm that meets the requirements of global integration challenges, at justifying innovative business models of logistics and supply chains management. The scientific and educational process involves the transfer of fundamental and applied ideas of logistics. The content of this research field is: planning, organizing and managing the flows of material, informational, financial resources in order to rationalize them.

The object of the conducted research is material (commodity) and other relevant information and financial flows both in the national economy as a whole and in the regions of our country, in supply chains and at separate enterprises. The graduates are in command of the culture of scientific research in the field of logistics and supply chains management; the methodology of theoretical and experimental research in the field of planning, organization and management of the flows of material, information, financial and human resources in order to rationalize them; the ability to reasonably choose and effectively use economic and mathematical methods and models in scientific and practical developments in the field of logistics and supply chains management.

Economics (Economics and National Economy Management (Marketing))

The programme is aimed at training highly qualified academic and teaching staff. The graduates have the level of qualification necessary for working in the field of marketing, and are ready to solve the conceptual (fundamental) problems of economic science, as well as the applied problems of functioning of various economic agents, markets and systems.

The graduates are in command of the culture of marketing research; obtain the skills to ensure stable functioning and development of an organisation in a competitive environment based on the coordination of the interests of consumers and the organisation; can analyze, coordinate and regulate the activities of all enterprise structures; can study market conditions, needs and demand, their dynamics and, in accordance with this, determine the enterprise strategy in a competitive environment; can form communication policy, participate in the development of strategic and operational planning programs; determine the effectiveness of marketing activities.

Economics (Economics and National Economy Management)

The programme is designed with consideration to the needs of the regional labour market, traditions and achievements of the scientific and pedagogical school of the university, and the requirements of the federal legislation. It is focused on developing the postgraduate students' ability to produce new (including fundamental) knowledge; achieving the compliance between the current state of economic science and practice and the competencies being formed for future professional activities.

The field of professional activity of the graduates includes regulation and planning, economics and management of enterprises, industries and cross-industry complexes, regional economics, labour economics, and business economics.

The postgraduate students are provided with profound knowledge in the field of research and development in economics and management in order to study the condition and forecast the main financial and economic indicators for socio-economic systems of various levels.